The County Canvass.

A Bryan Bimetallic Club was organized at Sublimity Saturday evening with nearly one hundred members.

A bimetallic union is being organized at Turner. The republicans have had a number of gold standard speakers there.

The joint debate at Sunnyside, six miles south of Salem, between Rigdon and Moores, Saturday evening next, is attracting wide attention. The Salem gang of McKinley shouters are talking of going out in a body. This would not be fair to the country people, as the schoolhouse is not large enough to hold the country people. If Salemites want to hear those debaters let them have Moores meet Rigdon at the armory in this city Friday night. Mr. Rigdon is willing to meet Mr. Moores before a Salem audience in Salem.

A Bryan club of 41 members was organized at Ballston Saturday night, with ringing speeches by J. J. Daly, J. H. Townsend and A. Adams. Nine republicans joined the club.

The Idleman meeting at Aurora was a flat failure. He made a very silly speech, said the ladies wore kid gloves with seven buttons and the men sewed their buttons on with a shingle nail, and many other silly things.

The Bryan club rally at Pringle school house set for Tuesday evening has been postponed as the seats are not in the new school house yet.

BENNETT'S GREAT SPEECH.

The Grandest Demonstration Ever Witnessed in Roseburg.

ROSEBURG, Sept. 28.—(Special)—Judge Alfred S. Bennett, of The Dalles, spoke in Roseburg Saturday night. The meeting was the largest ever held in the city, the court house with its seating capacity of 600 being full to overflowing. The band discoursed patriotic airs. Judge Bennett was introduced by the president of the Bryan Bimetallic club, B. W. Strong. The judge held his audience with the closest attention by a logical address of one hour and a half. Then he came to the climax and for thirty minutes in response to his eloquent peroration the audience was upon its feet cheering to the echo. Such a demonstration was never before known in Douglas county. At the conclusion of the address, an old soldier arose and stated that on a poll a majority of the inmates of the Oregon Soldier's Home were for Wm. J. Bryan. An old pioneer, David Fate, who presided over the first Republican convention ever held in this county came to the front and said he would vote for Bryan and monetary independence. These incidents were the cause of uproarious applause. Other leading Republicans have announced that they will join the Bryan club at the next meeting. Keep Douglas county in the Bryan column to the tune of 500 majority.

Church Notes.

Sunday was "rally" day, at the First Presbyterian church. The hour for the usual morning service was devoted to the Sunday school yesterday for the observance of "rally day" that will likely be celebrated annually hereafter. The exercises consisted of a number of musical selections, interspersed with several appropriate recitations, besides a brief talk by the pastor, Rev. Wm. Steel, and the superintendent, F. A. Wiggins. An enjoyable time was had, and the work of the Sunday school towards increasing the interest and attendance to be accomplished during the winter months, was successfully launched.

Rev. Gilman Parker lead the consecration meeting of the Baptist Y. P. S. C. E. Sunday evening. The Methodist League was invited to participate in the exercises and attended the meeting. A very successful meeting was had, Rev. Parker advancing several thoughts along the line of consecration that were of peculiar interest and value to all members of the society.

Last evening, the quarterly review at the Methodist church, as conducted by Prof. R. A. Heritage, was a decided success. The lesson review was preceded by a short song service that was greatly appreciated. Then followed the lesson review from a chart nine feet square, in which Prof. Heritage proved, without a doubt, that he was quite as familiar with the life of David and Absalom, as with the rudiments of music. The service served as the regular evening discourse, since the pastor was in Roseburg, attending conference.

SALEM PUBLIC SCHOOLS.

Another Year's Work Opens With a Large Enrollment.

Vacation is ended, and now Young America places his books under his arm and marches to the public school. Our public schools opened this morning, with a fair enrollment and prospects favorable for a larger number of pupils than the schools have accommodated for years. The morning was devoted to the registration and classification of pupils, and the assignment of lessons. Tomorrow school proper will begin. Fully 500 pupils reported at the East school this morning. A remarkably good showing for the first day. The attendance at the Central school was rather light, only 112 reporting there. Reports from the other schools were not received up to the hour of going to press. Flags were flying from the different school buildings, significant of the patriotism abounding in our public schools.

About eighty students of different grades gathered at the Polytechnic school this morning thinking that school facilities for all grades would be found there. On the contrary however, arrangements for only the instruction of the first three grades had been made by the school board. All above the third grade are requested to report at the North school until other provision can be made for them. Should a sufficient number report at the North school to justify the school board in so doing, an additional teacher may be employed for the Polytechnic school.

City Superintendent G. A. Peebles is pleased with the outlook which is quite favorable for an immense enrollment in the different schools.

JUSTICE COURT.—John Oliver, who was arrested Sunday for an assault and battery on a man three miles south of Salem, was tried today before Judge Johnson and fined $5 and costs.

PROBATE COURT.—In the estate of Eliza Benson, Chas. W. Benson, executor, today filed his final account, and it was approved.

SALEM'S BIG BUSTER

A Club That Will Burst Majorities at

THE REPUBLICAN FORTRESS.

Hold a Rally Saturday Night
That Proves a Corker.

The Salem Bryan club gave the goldbugs an eye-opener Saturday night.

The armory had three times the seating capacity it ever held before, and it would have taken two armories to hold the crowd.

The crowd that got in was intelligent, orderly and respectable in a high degree, in spite of sneers and ridicule at Popocrats, Anarchists and Silverites. The best brains and society of the Capital City were present.

It required no brass bands, drum corps, or other musical aggregation to attract a crowd to the armory Saturday night. At 7:45, just fifteen minutes preceding the time for opening the meeting, every seat was filled, while desirable standing room was at a premium.

Promptly at 8 o'clock Chairman for the evening Hon. T. L. Davidson, accompanied by Chas. P. Strain and Judge Ben. Hayden, and the inimitable Mott Bros., mounted the platform and were seated. Chairman Davidson announced the meeting to be a rally of the Salem Bryan club, and held in his hand the membership roll, which contained the names of 751 friends of the white metal. "We will make the list number 1,000 before November 3d," remarked the judge, which was followed by deafening applause. Mr. Davidson then introduced Chas. P. Strain of Abiqua precinct, who spoke for an hour on the issues of the day. The tariff and money questions were ably dissected, the speaker presenting several clear and irrefutable statements in favor of the white metal. Mr. Strain was deputy assessor under Assessor D. D. Coffey, and is an intelligent, and well posted speaker. He presented a good substantial discussion and left the matter in the hands of the voters for their consideration and approbation.

STRAIN'S ELOQUENT ADDRESS.

Chas. Strain made one of the most eloquent addresses ever heard in Salem. He successfully showed up the mistakes made by goldbug orators, and the unreasonableness of their arguments by facts and statistics. He held the fixed attention of the largest audience assembled in Salem in this campaign for over an hour and he won as much applause as any speaker who has been here. Without resorting to any of the tricks of the old stump speakers, he got cheer after cheer for his unanswerable logic and scientific impalement of fallacies. He did not even wait for applause from his admirers who were ready to bestow it even more freely than they did, and were warm in praise of his splendid effort at Salem.

The Mott Bros. followed with one of their comical songs, which gave an exact status of the situation of McKinley, Hanna, Mitchell and Geer, which received a round of applause that nearly raised the roof. They kindly responded to an encore, and the appreciation of the audience was manifest from the warm reception again tendered them. The performances of the Mott Bros. added much to the success of the meeting, and their services on such occasions can hereafter hardly be dispensed with.

Judge Ben Hayden was then introduced by Chairman Davidson and made one of the most substantial speeches in favor of the free coinage of silver independent of any foreign power that we have yet heard. He severely arraigned Cleveland for the stand he had taken and associated him with Arnold and Judas Iscariot, giving the latter the preference. His speech of 40 minutes duration was full of good food for silver men and his many humorous and highly sarcastic remarks were greeted with bursts of applause from the large audience.

BEN HAYDEN'S CLIMAX.

At the conclusion of his speech Ben Hayden said he would do what he had never asked of a public audience—take a rising vote on the issue in this campaign.

"All who are in favor of our country acting independently of other nations, please stand up."

At least nine-tenths of all the voters arose with a bound and a cheer.

He then asked those who favored waiting for the consent of other nations to secure a bimetallic financial policy to arise.

One man got up, but he was met with laughter and jeers, and cries of "sit down," "sit down." "It was a demonstration that created a sensation.

One demented goldite near the door yelled "Three cheers for McKinley," when the old veteran of Oregon politics with a quick flash of repartee cut him down like a green blade of grass and the crowd yelled with delight and the McKinley shouters disappeared.
